Week 9 — Perspectives Beyond the Grade-Level Focus

Unit 3: Across Texts, and Across Subjects · Month 3 · Quarter 1 · Semester 1 · Instructional Days 41–45

Essential question	What do two texts from different worlds say to each other?
Standards	Perspectives Beyond the Grade-Level Focus -> 9-10.SL.1 1 standards this week; full text in the standards table.
Learning target	"I can compare and contrast perspectives across text types and viewpoints."
Local dates	_____ (enter your school dates)

Measurable objectives

- Students will compare and/or contrast the perspectives in a variety of fiction, nonfiction, informational, digital, and multimodal texts produced from diverse historical, cultural, and global viewpoints, not limited to the grade-level literary focus.

Success criteria (student-friendly)

- "I compare texts of different types on a genuine common question."
- "I contrast their perspectives with evidence."
- "I reach a conclusion the comparison earns."

Academic vocabulary

compare, contrast, perspective, viewpoint, fiction, nonfiction, informational, digital, multimodal, common question, false equivalence

Materials and technology

- Department-chosen texts of several types
- Notebooks
- Comparison frames

Differentiation and supports

Support area	This week's plan
Special education / IEP	Reduce group size; pair visual cue cards with all verbal directions; allow gesture or picture response in place of speech; pre-teach the week's target in a 1:1 warm-up.
Section 504	Provide the child's documented accommodations throughout; permit movement breaks and alternative seating at any point in the sequence.
Multilingual learners	Introduce each vocabulary word with an object or image; accept home-language responses; send the vocabulary list home where a translation is available; pair with a peer who shares the home language.
Advanced / extension	Ask the learner to teach the skill to a peer, extend the task, or record a demonstration for the class reference wall.
Intervention / reteach	Reteach the target in a short small group using the same materials; split the day's check for understanding into two smaller steps.

Support area	This week's plan
Enrichment	Extend into an open-ended centre or project connected to the essential question.

Assessment and evidence

Student produces an evidenced comparison across text types.

Family communication

Ask your child which two texts they compared, and what the comparison showed.

Day 41 — The Standard That Opens the Door

Week 9, Day 1 · Unit 3 · Standards: 9-10.SL.1

Focus	Scope.
Learning target	"I can compare and contrast perspectives across text types and viewpoints."
Vocabulary in use	compare, contrast, perspective, viewpoint, fiction, nonfiction, informational, digital, multimodal, common question, false equivalence
Local date	_____

Learning sequence

TEACHER NOTE: THIS IS THE ONE STANDARD EXPLICITLY 'NOT LIMITED TO THE GRADE-LEVEL LITERARY FOCUS'. Texts from the United States, the British Isles and before 1600 belong here legitimately, and this is where a department can bring in what its students already know. Connect: comparison needs something shared. Teach: the standard names five text types - fiction, nonfiction, informational, digital, multimodal - and three kinds of viewpoint - historical, cultural, global. A comparison works only if the texts genuinely address a COMMON QUESTION; without one it produces a list of differences that means nothing. Try: shared framing of common questions for supplied pairs. Apply: students choose two texts of different types and frame the question they share. Reflect: the question is chosen by you, and it is the whole design.

Check for understanding

Student selects texts of different types and frames a genuine common question.

Differentiation in the moment

If the learner...	Then...
needs more support	Model the step again with guided support, then fade to a gesture cue.
is ready for more	Invite the learner to demonstrate for a peer or add a second example.
is dysregulated	Pause instruction, move to co-regulation, and return to the target later.

Closure and reflection

Gather the group. Restate the learning target. Ask one learner to demonstrate. Name one specific thing the group did well, then preview tomorrow.

Teacher reflection (fictional example)

Fictional Example — Customize and Verify Before School Submission.

Most learners met the target. Two needed the visual cue repeated during guided practice; I will pre-teach with them tomorrow. The extension held attention longer than planned, so I shortened closure.

Day 42 — Comparing Across Different Kinds of Text

Week 9, Day 2 · Unit 3 · Standards: 9-10.SL.1

Focus	Type differences.
Learning target	"I can compare and contrast perspectives across text types and viewpoints."
Vocabulary in use	compare, contrast, perspective, viewpoint, fiction, nonfiction, informational, digital, multimodal, common question, false equivalence
Local date	_____

Learning sequence

Connect: a poem and a report do not argue the same way. Teach: each type has its own means - fiction argues by situation and consequence; nonfiction by claim and evidence; informational by selection and arrangement; digital and multimodal by image, sound, sequence and what the user controls. Comparing requires translating each into what it CLAIMS before setting them side by side. Try: shared extraction of the claim from three supplied texts of different types. Apply: students state what each of their texts claims about the shared question. Reflect: get to the claim, then compare.

Check for understanding

Student extracts comparable claims from texts of different types.

Day 43 — Contrasting Without Faking a Balance

Week 9, Day 3 · Unit 3 · Standards: 9-10.SL.1

Focus	Honest contrast.
Learning target	"I can compare and contrast perspectives across text types and viewpoints."
Vocabulary in use	compare, contrast, perspective, viewpoint, fiction, nonfiction, informational, digital, multimodal, common question, false equivalence
Local date	_____

Learning sequence

Connect: not every disagreement has two equal sides. Teach: honest contrast states each perspective in its strongest form, identifies where they truly differ rather than where they use different words, and does not manufacture symmetry - if one text is far better evidenced, that is a finding. Note also where they AGREE, which is often the more surprising result. Try: shared analysis of a supplied comparison that faked balance. Apply: students contrast their two texts and identify a genuine agreement. Reflect: the agreement between opposed texts is usually the interesting part.

Check for understanding

Student contrasts perspectives honestly and identifies real agreement.

Day 44 — Multimodal Texts Argue Differently

Week 9, Day 4 · Unit 3 · Standards: 9-10.SL.1

Focus	Multimodal.
Learning target	"I can compare and contrast perspectives across text types and viewpoints."
Vocabulary in use	compare, contrast, perspective, viewpoint, fiction, nonfiction, informational, digital, multimodal, common question, false equivalence
Local date	_____

Learning sequence

Connect: the standard names digital and multimodal explicitly. Teach: a multimodal text argues through the relationship BETWEEN its modes - image against caption, music against footage, what is shown against what is said - and the strongest claims are often the ones never stated in words, which makes them harder to argue with and easier to absorb. Try: shared analysis of a supplied multimodal text, separating the modes. Apply: students analyse one multimodal text's unstated claim. Reflect: the unstated claim is the one to name.

Check for understanding

Student identifies the unstated claim of a multimodal text.

Differentiation in the moment

If the learner...	Then...
needs more support	Model the step again with guided support, then fade to a gesture cue.
is ready for more	Invite the learner to demonstrate for a peer or add a second example.
is dysregulated	Pause instruction, move to co-regulation, and return to the target later.

Day 45 — The Comparison, Written

Week 9, Day 5 · Unit 3 · Standards: 9-10.SL.1

Focus	The week's product.
Learning target	"I can compare and contrast perspectives across text types and viewpoints."
Vocabulary in use	compare, contrast, perspective, viewpoint, fiction, nonfiction, informational, digital, multimodal, common question, false equivalence
Local date	_____

Learning sequence

Teach: the finished piece states the common question, each text's perspective with evidence, where they converge and diverge, and what the comparison establishes that neither text establishes alone - which is the only reason to compare. Try: shared drafting of that final claim. Apply: students write and file the comparison. Reflect: if the conclusion could have come from one text, the comparison did no work.

Check for understanding

Student produces a comparison whose conclusion requires both texts.

Differentiation in the moment

If the learner...	Then...
needs more support	Model the step again with guided support, then fade to a gesture cue.
is ready for more	Invite the learner to demonstrate for a peer or add a second example.
is dysregulated	Pause instruction, move to co-regulation, and return to the target later.
